

How often do you travel, whether for business or pleasure?

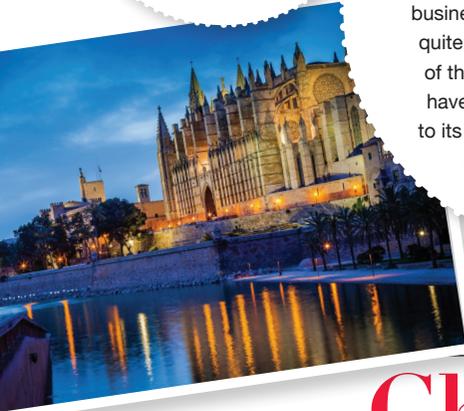

On average, I travel once every two weeks.

What is the most exciting destination you have visited for work? And for pleasure?

For work, it would have to be the United Arab Emirates since the way business is done in the Middle East is quite different, compared to the rest of the world! For pleasure, it would have to be Palma de Mallorca due to its sunny personality, its ravishing beaches, azure views and remote mountains.

Tell us about your best corporate travel experience.

The best corporate travel experience, whatever the destination, is for everything to be perfect and to go as planned. This means travelling comfortably, safely and being able to work while doing so. Having access to the Internet throughout your journey is surely a must!

Charalambos Samir

The Founder & CEO of ConnectedSky spends a lot of time travelling to the countries of the Gulf and the Middle East but London remains his favourite international destination. And when he's not flying here and there, he is happy to spend time in warm and sunny Cyprus.

What is your favourite airline, and why?

Emirates! The experience is unique since you get the feeling of flying in a 5-star hotel, safely and comfortably.

What is your favourite international destination and why?

It has to be London. Everything about London is amazing. Great atmosphere, great international cuisine, comfortable and easy transport and, of course, London is the No.1 financial centre in the world.

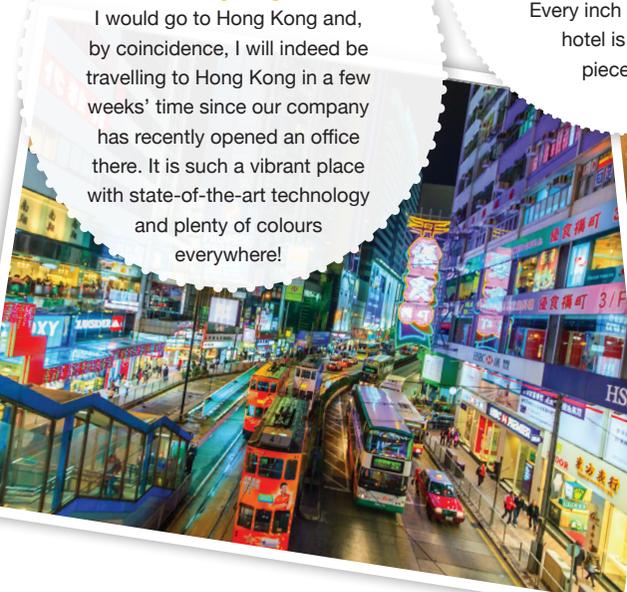

What is the most impressive hotel you have ever stayed at and why?

Definitely the Burj Al Arab in Dubai. Every inch of this 7-star hotel is a unique piece of art!

If you could travel anywhere tomorrow, where would you go?

I would go to Hong Kong and, by coincidence, I will indeed be travelling to Hong Kong in a few weeks' time since our company has recently opened an office there. It is such a vibrant place with state-of-the-art technology and plenty of colours everywhere!

How does Cyprus compare to this location?

OK, we all know that Cyprus offers many things which are a bit better than London. Among them are the weather and quality of life! In Cyprus, you do not have to be wealthy in order to have a decent standard of living compared to London.
